

EAP – LOVE AND MISCHIEF

Monday APRIL 22ND TO Friday 26th April

DAY ONE. Introduction to a choice-centered approach to synastry.

No “yay or nay” about people’s relationships, but rather how to counsel in support of relationships. Overview of the three simultaneous approaches

– looking at the people as individuals, looking at their astrological interactions, and looking at the Composite chart. In the second half of the day, we begin Phase One - Looking at the individuals. What are needing to learn? What are our blind spots? Taking in the wholeness of the chart. The meaning of Mars and Venus.

The “Arc of Intimacy Houses (House 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8)

DAY TWO. Continuing with the individual birthchart.

How to identify and profile one’s “natural mate.” Here, we will see how the more psychological and internal developmental logic of the individual chart must be “met” in the world by people who can help us learn what we are here to learn.

We will also consider what happens when we meet genuine soulmates who have gone down a dark road.

DAY THREE. Entering Technical Synastry.

Here, we explore interaspects – my Venus trines your Sun. What are these “transmissions” and “receptions?” We will also consider :“house transpositions” - your Moon falls in my 7th house and my Venus falls in your 12th house. We will pay special attention to the nodal access. What if my Venus conjuncts your north node? What “face” did I present to you in a prior life - and what perils does that create for our present connection?

DAY FOUR The Composite Chart.

Here, we explore the idea that "the whole is greater than the sum of the parts. Every relationship has its own meta-personality, complete with needs, fears, and an evolutionary agenda.

How do we recognize the meaning of the composite chart? How does it interact with the two individual charts?

DAY FIVE.

We will explore practical examples drawn from the experience of class members and entertain questions about presenting an integrated, encouraging synastry analysis in the real world of clients with their limited astrological knowledge and their array of issues and needs.
